

What to do when crops are damaged

If your crops are damaged and you participate in Agricorp's programs, contact Agricorp immediately at 1-888-247-4999. Agricorp will discuss your program coverage, explain your options, and guide you through the claims process.

Production Insurance

Production Insurance is your best protection against weather events like flooding and excess moisture. It covers production loss and yield reductions caused by insured perils. There are three main types of claims:

Reseeding claims: if you are forced to reseed some of your crop due to an insured peril.

Unseeded acreage benefits (USAB): if an insured peril, other than drought, prevents you and a significant number of other growers in the same area from planting or seeding part of their acreage.

Production claims: if an insured peril reduces your yield below your guaranteed production.

Agricorp's three main programs, Production Insurance, Agristability and the Risk Management Program, work together to protect you against the risk of production loss, increased costs, or adverse market conditions.

The table on the reverse outlines the different types of claims made under Production Insurance and how Agricorp's programs work together. Please visit Agricorp.com for more comprehensive documentation of each program's requirements and policies.
